LOCAL MAN ARRESTED AS BANK BANDIT

Paul Derney Taken Into Custody as Alvarado Robber by Sheriff Barnett and Deputies, Who Find Arsenal in Home

Said By Officers to Be ex-Convict and to Answer Closely Description of One of Men Who Shot Banker Aug. May

Paul Derney, who lives at Maple avenue and Arkansas street, was arrested shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon by deputies from the sheriff's office. He will be investigated for possible connection with the robbery of the Bank of Alvarado last Wednesday, in which President August May of the bank was shot and seriously wounded.

A number of packages of clothing and papers belonging to Derney were taken with him to the county jail. Derney was given a rigorous examination by deputies this afternoon.

DERNEYS REVOLVERS AND AMMUNITION SEIZED

Derney was arrested at his home by Sheriff Frank Barnett and a posse of deputies.

According to Barnett, evidence was found in the home which gives them strong assurance that Derney was one of the men who committed the robbery. Among other things, seven rifles and four revolvers and large amount of ammunition were found in the Derney home, they say.

Barnett says that Derney is an ex-convict, having served a term in an Oregon penitentiary for an offense committed in September, 1917. He is 27 years of age, and according to Barnett, the description tallies closely with that of one of the men who held up the bank.

BRANDY STILL FOUND IN HOME OF SUSPECT

The arrested man's home was found to contain a barrel of mash in the process of fermentation. The still had evidently been in recent operation according to sheriff's deputies.

Derney told the sheriff while they were driving from the Derney home to the county jail that he is a cornet player by profession and plays in local bands.

The still and its contents, the mash and several bottles of liquor, which were evidently the product of the still, were seized and brought to the jail by the deputies.

An examination of Derney's home was taken to Alvarado last night, where employees of the bank were to be given an opportunity to identify the man.

BOOTS LEGGINGS CHARGE WILD BOYDGED AGAINST HIM

District Attorney Ezra Decoto, Sheriff Barnett and Deputy Sheriffs George Helms and Joseph Soares took the man to a cell shortly after he was brought to the jail, where he was questioned concerning the robbery.

Derney will be formally arrested and turned over to the federal authorities of a charge of bootlegging. Sheriff Barnett said, "on the strength of the still and brandy materials which we found in his home. That will give us ample time to connect him with the Alvarado bank robbery."

Derney's wife was brought to the county jail with him. She will be questioned as to the whereabouts of her husband on the day of the robbery and for the days following.

Investigation of Derney's record show that he was sentenced to eight years in the state prison of Oregon on a charge of highway robbery, according to Barnett.

Isabelle Williams Summoned in Connection With Killing of Handley

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—Isabelle Williams, 504 Nineteenth avenue, who has been a vague and mysterious figure in the Government investigation into San Francisco's alleged whiskey ring and the reputed owner of the automobile in which the late Louis Handley, prohibition director, met his death, presumably by accident, today was brought directly into the foreground when it became known she has been asked to appear before Federal officials for interrogation.

This development, added to the public interest in the beginning of the Federal Grand Jury's formal survey of the illicit liquor situation.

Officials decline to divulge what the nature of their interrogation will be, but it generally is believed it will center on certain phases of the reported nature of Handley's death which still are more or less obscured.

It also is believed Miss Williams may be in a position, owing to her friendship with the late prohibition director, to cast additional light on matters connected with the investigation.

At Miss Williams' home confirmation of the fact that she had been asked to call on the Federal authorities was not forthcoming. It was stated, however, that Miss Williams was scheduled shortly after noon to keep an appointment at a downtown hotel. The nature of the appointment, or with whom it is to be held was not disclosed. It is known that a Federal representative was sent to Miss Williams' home this morning to solicit her attendance at the Federal building.

ADHERES TO STORY OF DEATH BY ACCIDENT

Emile DeValle, who was driving the automobile in which Handley was killed, was questioned yesterday by United States Attorney Frank M. Silva, and steadfastly adhered to his original story that his automobile had been crowded off the highway near Led by another vehicle, which in an accident which caused Handley's death.

Rumors have persisted questioning the reported details of the accident and the fact that DeValle, auto driver, and Miss Williams, reputed owner, both have been asked to submit their statements to the government. The government has been asked to submit their statements to the government.

Dr. Wm. C. Hassler, chief of health of Brest, was today directed to appear before the court for a hearing, which convened this afternoon to continue its investigation of prohibition enforcement.

The testimony of Hassler's testimony was not revealed, the only public connection Hassler has had thus far with the liquor investigation was his alleged statement that the stolen Krull late today for a hearing. The alleged statement that barrels of liquor were withdrawn from bonded warehouses and found their way, according to various statements, down the throats of delegates to the Democratic national convention.

After it became known Hassler had been asked to appear before the grand jury, John S. Dunagan, clerk of the house of representatives, said he expected to be summoned. Dunagan was quoted a short time ago as having said that Hassler signed a letter late today for a hearing. The alleged statement that barrels of liquor were withdrawn from bonded warehouses and found their way, according to various statements, down the throats of delegates to the Democratic national convention.

FOUR DEFENDANTS SCHEDULED TO APPEAR

Four of six defendants charged with conspiring to violate the prohibition law in connection with the illegal withdrawal of liquor from bonded warehouses were scheduled to appear before U. S. Commissioner Fred Krull late today for a hearing. They are: Francis Mannix, former census supervisor; J. F. Poplano Jr., and Paul Vannuchi, proprietors of a roadhouse, and Robert Jessress, former Powell street saloonkeeper. Harry Broloski, designated as one of the principal factors in the illegal distribution of liquor, and Douglas Newton, an automobile man, both charged with conspiracy, are scheduled to have their hearings before Krull tomorrow.

TWO INDICTMENTS FOR

There is a possibility several of all of these defendants may disregard the hearing before Commissioner Krull.

MRS. PEETE SAW DENTON MURDERED

Prosecutors Are Told Rich Man Was Slain Following Quarrel With Woman Whom He Shot During Breakfast

Identity of Murderers Have Been Established; It Is Believed Authorities Will Soon Have Them in Custody

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEADERS WIRE TO TRIBUNE. LOS ANGELES, Oct. 19.—Mrs. R. C. Peete of Denver who was either a tenant in or housekeeper at the home of Jacob C. Denton, when that wealthy mining man was slain here last June, today told the district attorney's deputies investigating the case that she saw a man and a woman kill Denton, after the woman had quarreled with him through the night and he had shot her as they sat at a breakfast table before dawn.

After some investigation she was escorted back here by men and women attaches of the district attorney's office, being accompanied also by her husband and little daughter. Since her return she has held almost daily conferences with the district attorney's representatives and but by bit from her statements and from other evidence, they pieced together a story which led to her statement of last night.

PROSECUTORS LEAVE MURDERED IN AUTO

Shortly after Mrs. Peete completed her statement this morning W. C. Doran and Raymond I. Turney of the district attorney's office, for the automobile hurriedly, after earnestly asking newspaper men assigned to the case not to endeavor to follow them. They had not returned to their offices and were ordered to leave.

Mrs. Peete's story today definitely fixed the identity of the person who she said had done the actual slaying and it was believed that the authorities knew where to find the two, and that arrests would follow soon.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE. LEADERS WIRE TO TRIBUNE. LOS ANGELES, Oct. 19.—Sensational new evidence that Jacob C. Denton shot and wounded a mysterious man in a rooming house in Los Angeles, was disclosed today by the district attorney's office.

Doran and Turney, who were in the rooming house, confirmed reports that they possessed a statement purporting to give complete details of the murder.

They admitted that a witness, whose identity is kept secret, had made a partial confession of guilty knowledge of the crime.

Turney's statement to Doran and Turney was.

Airedale Dog Puts Ducks, Officials of Park, in Air

Park officials of Oakland are at a loss as to what steps to take to stop an airedale dog from swimming back and forth across Lake Merritt. The dog, on his daily visits to Oakland from his kennel in Piedmont, swims Lake Merritt rather than trout around it. In doing so he disturbs the wild ducks and puts them on the wing, which also disturbs the park officials.

The dog was noticed swimming the lake early last June. Since that time he has been seen several times swimming to and from the Oakland shore from the Piedmont side. On Sunday he made two trips to Oakland, causing the wild ducks to take to wing four times during the day. Yesterday he paid another visit to this side and again crossed the lake, accompanied by a dog, accompanied by loud quacking.

"Something must be done," say the park officials, but they are at a loss as to what to do.

MINERS BITE KILLS KING ALEXANDER

Monarch Pays With His Life for Rescue of Pet Dog From Attack of Enraged Monkey in the Royal Yard

Morganatic Marriage With Childhood Friend, Turmoil With French Over Ally Policies Featured His Reign

ATHENS, Oct. 19.—King Alexander died here today as a result of blood poisoning, following a bite by a monkey, October 2. The king was bitten when he entered a cage where the simian was attacking a pet dog. The monkey bit King Alexander on the arm and leg.

Almost immediately symptoms of septicemia manifested, and despite the efforts of noted surgeons, the royal patient continued to grow worse. The condition of the king was so grave this morning that newspapers speculated on his successor.

At 11 a. m. today a bulletin said drowsiness persisted and his lungs were congested.

A number of foreign princes are suggested for the throne. Prince Charles of Belgium, younger son of King Albert and Queen Elisabeth, is the favorite, although some journals say the natural heir to the throne under the constitution would be Prince Paul's brother, King Alexander's third son of King Constantine.

CAME TO THRONE OF GREECE IN 1917

Alexander succeeded to the throne of Greece in June, 1917, when his father, King Constantine, abdicated in response to the demand of France, Great Britain and Russia, the three powers which had guaranteed the constitutional liberties of the Greek people.

At the time of his accession he was 24 years old. His elder brother, Crown Prince George, was considered ineligible for the throne because of alleged pro-German sympathies.

In any event, King Constantine nominated Alexander to succeed him. The fall of Constantine had been brought about through the intervention of the Entente powers.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—Definite warning to the other trades, especially the railwaymen, was given today by the miners' strike committee, which was given today by J. H. Thomas, head of the union of railwaymen.

Thomas declared that a fortnight ago the miners' executive committee decided by a margin of only one vote against an immediate strike of sympathy with the miners.

By CHARLES MCCANN, United Press Staff Correspondent. LONDON, Oct. 19.—The first strike disturbance in the coal region was reported today from Tondy and Pandy, mining centers in Wales.

Large bodies of miners gathered in both cities near midnight, singing the "Red Flag" as they marched about the streets.

Shop windows were stoned but no serious damage resulted. The mobs dispersed of their own accord.

HOME RULE BILL TO BE FORCED IN BRITISH COMMONS

Bonar Law Declares That Policy of Murder Will Be Put Down; No Receding from MacSwiney Plan

WILD SCENES MARK SESSION

By EARLE C. REEVES, International News Service Staff Correspondent. LONDON, Oct. 19.—Two demonstrations, one in behalf of Irish freedom and the other against unemployment, ushered in the new session of parliament this afternoon. Warned by the savage rioting which marked Monday's unemployment demonstration, all available police reserves were massed about Whitehall and parliament buildings. Great crowds blocked the streets. Just as the House of Commons was called to order a great procession of men and women marched through the streets bearing banners with such inscriptions as "Hands Off Ireland!" A large number of unemployed men and women broke up a meeting of the London county council. They were ejected and made a noisy demonstration in the streets outside.

By EARLE C. REEVES, International News Service Staff Correspondent. LONDON, Oct. 19.—The government intends to proceed with the Home Rule bill, it was declared by Andrew Bonar Law, government spokesman, when parliament was greeted with cheers from the coalition benches.

Colonel Malone, Liberal member, declared whether the government intended to continue the "police murder reprisals," this brought cries of "shame" from the floor.

It is the intention of the government to put down the policy of murder, Bonar Law replied. But if it did so, others would have to be settled every three months when once the impression got about that it was only a matter of time before a strike in order to get something.

BRACE SUGGESTS METHOD OF ENDING COAL STRIKE

LONDON, Oct. 19.—The way to end the coal strike, according to the British coal strike was opened today by William Brace, labor member of parliament.

COX DECLARES ARTICLE X. AIDS IRELAND'S CAUSE

By HERBERT W. WALKER.
EN ROUTE WITH GOVERNOR COX, WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 19.—The way to Irish freedom is opened by Article 10 of the League of Nations covenant, and not blocked by it as opponents of the League have contended, Governor James M. Cox declared here today in opening his campaign in New England.

To support his statement, Cox said the provisions of Article 10 against external aggression by one nation against another wipe out an obstacle that has stood in the way of Irish independence for hundreds of years—the contention that this very Ireland, because of its geographical relation to England, might menace that country.

STRESSES IRISH ISSUE.
Cox's stop here was the first in the home state of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, whom he has been attacking during the day he was to invade New Hampshire, the home state of Senator Charles McNary, who is also attacking him. A night meeting was to be held in Boston, Lodge's home city. In all his New England addresses Cox was expected to stress the Irish issue.

For the first time in this very significant thing, the governor said: "Many statesmen have contended throughout the years that Ireland would have been given her freedom long ago except that England, as some of the statesmen said, could not afford to establish a governmental entity so near her own gateway. But under Article 10 of the League of Nations covenant Ireland need have no fear whatever. Nothing in the League can be construed to mean the League would be under obligations to interfere in any fight for freedom that Ireland may make."

SAYS ARGUMENT GONE.
"My sympathies are aroused by the Irish cause, and I believe the League of Nations has swept away England's main argument for not granting Ireland freedom."

"Senator Harding says this is a domestic question that concerns

Election Returns Will Be Flashed Broadcast From Tribune Office Nov. 2

The news of the election is to be flashed to every person in Alameda county by The TRIBUNE. By stereophonic, by extra editions, by bulletin, and by special signals the details of the Presidential contest, the State election, and the amendment decisions will be given to the entire community.

On the San Pablo avenue frontage of Kahn Bros' building in Oakland will be erected one of the largest exposures of screens ever seen in the West and on this will be thrown, in gigantic bulletin, the telegraphic despatches of the national election with the latest word of the count in those contests in the State and in Alameda county.

WILL FLASH NEWS.
In Berkeley and Alameda TRIBUNE stereophones will flash the news in similar manner.

Giant screens will be placed at the new Alameda branch office of this newspaper, 1401 Park street, and at the Bowman Drive Co. store, Center and Shattuck, Berkeley.

Extras will be issued and signals will be arranged so that even the hermit, who sticks to his wilderness in election night, will know who is elected.

JOHNSON SAYS HARDING IS PLAIN ON LEAGUE
CINCINNATI, Oct. 19.—Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California, addressing a Newport, Ky., audience last night, described himself as "not a member of the senatorial caucus, but only a casualty of the last Republican party convention."

The senator declared he resented any charge of ambiguity against Senator Harding because of his stand on the question of the League of Nations.

He said Senator Harding's views on the league were made increasingly plain as the days of the campaign passed and added:

"The Democratic candidate says that if he is elected the United States will join the League of Nations. The Republican candidate says: 'If I am elected we will not have anything to do with the League of Nations.'"

"For that reason Senator Harding is entitled to the vote of every red-blooded American."

ENGLAND SENDS GOLD.
NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The steamer St. Paul brought $5,300,000 in gold here from England yesterday to pay Great Britain's interest on war debt in this country.

Great Britain, only, the governor said, "My judgment is that it has become a world tragedy. I call your attention to the fact that the British papers have been predicting Harding's election, and that three days after he expressed himself against the interests of the Irish people, Balbriggan, Ireland, was burned to the ground by British soldiers. Can it be possible the senator's views are being acted on as expressing the American mind? It is becoming a war of extermination."

ALAMEDA READY FOR G.O.P. RALLY
ALAMEDA, Oct. 19.—A Harding-Coolidge-Shortridge rally has been arranged in Alameda next Saturday night by the Republican County Central Committee. The program is in the hands of Ernest J. Probst, Frank W. Hally, Alfred Latham, C. L. Tilden, local county committee-men.

The meeting will be held in Native Sons' Hall, Park street and Central avenue. Judge Rex Goodell will speak for Harding and Coolidge, and L. E. Weinmann will speak for Samuel Shortridge, candidate for United States Senator.

E. K. Taylor will speak on Republicanism and Homer Spencer, Republican, nominee for the assembly, will deliver a message of local import. William J. Hamilton will introduce Mayor C. L. Tilden, who will be chairman of the evening.

The vice-presidents named for the meeting are: H. W. Kearney, Alfred Latham, Fred Baker, Thomas W. B. Stephens, C. W. Neill, Louis James, W. J. Locke, J. C. Frazier, J. M. J. Minium, J. Eschum, Eleanor Sharpe, Caroline Eckler, Jas. Shepard, M. Farthing, Ed. Lancaster, Selma Coffin, Thos. Judd, W. E. Dennison, M. Kirk, Misses Nellie Moffatt and Elizabeth Coffin.

300 GALLONS OF 'BRANDY' SEIZED

In a raid on 531 Seventeenth street, conducted by a police squad headed by Sergeant of Police J. W. Mares early today, a moonshine still was seized together with two barrels of mash in the process of fermenting, 300 gallons of "jack" brandy, and several bottles of gin. No arrests were made. The place was unoccupied at the time. Police believe that a confederate of the men who were operating the still "tipped" them that a raid was impending so that they were able to escape.

After Steve Boehm, soft drink dealer at 541 1/2 Sixteenth street, made the mistake of selling two "shots" of gin to police plain-clothes men today, he was arrested and his stock of liquor seized. He had on hand three gallons of port wine, three quarts of gin and a small stock of "real old" whisky.

For lower rents and food a plenty, see YES, Amendment No. Twenty—Advertisement.

The Letters of Tessie and Joe

Joe is a traveling salesman. Tessie is his loving wife. Follow their letters in The OAKLAND TRIBUNE

DEAR TESSIE:

It's a small world after all. Who do you think I bumped into today? Hennie Garvey. You remember Hennie Garvey the little shrimp that I used to be so jealous of because he had a tenor voice and remembered the words to all the songs, whereas I could only whistle the tune and whistling seemed to be not in demand, not to say objectionable. Well, I hadn't set eyes on Hennie for years, but I knew him at once by his way of walking with his chest out like a tenor trying to feel like a baritone.

Well, we chatted a while and then I said, trying not to sound too condescending, "Well, Hennie, I suppose you heard I married Tessie."

"Yes, I did," said Hennie, "and I must say I was surprised. Of course, I always thought Tessie was a nice girl and all that, but I must say I was surprised."

Well, that kind of took me by surprise, and felt sort of dissatisfied all the rest of the day, because you know Hennie always did have a reputation for having good taste and I thought if he was surprised at me marrying you there probably might be something to be surprised at. Not that I've ever had any remorse at tying up with you, Tessie, and not that I ever expect to have, and if the whole thing was to be done all over again I'd take my medicine as cheerfully as ever. But I just thought I'd tell you about meeting Hennie, that's all.

As for this new paper clothing you mention, it's doomed to an early grave, the way I look at it, for the simple reason that it would be entirely too comfortable for the same case of people who wished puny robes, stiff collars and full dress suits on themselves. For countless years now people have been making it a part of their religion that they don't look dressed unless they feel uncomfortable. If I had a paper suit mill I'd rush all my paper clothes to the heart of Africa because even a tissue paper business suit or newspaper opera gown would make people feel uncomfortable and fashionable in a place where the national garment is the open air.

JOE.

Tessie's Cousin Grace is back from her honeymoon. Don't miss Tessie's visit tomorrow.

CIVIL SERVICE IS PRAISED BY CLAY

Civil service, rehabilitated from returning to the "disreputable" spoils system of running the city government, was embodied in a burning speech by County Assessor J. C. Clay in an address before the Rockridge Improvement Club, against the proposed charter amendments affecting civil service.

Declaring that he was one of the charter makers and knew the "intent" of the board of freeholders Clay declared:

"The people of Oakland voted for civil service because they wanted it. The conditions are just the same to day, and the people want it more than ever.

"Instead of curtailing any of the details of the system, it should be extended. To deny a discharged employee the right of appeal to the Civil Service Board is an outrage. It is unjust that I cannot believe any citizen would tolerate it. Probably there are mistakes made at times, for it is not expected that any board is absolutely perfect, but to pass the proposed amendments will make a joke of civil service and would be practically abolishing it and substituting a regime of politics that would wreck the entire system now working so effectively and efficiently at the city hall."

Eastbay Folks Sail On Trip to Orient

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—One of a fleet of Santa Claus ships that are taking tons of Christmas mail to Americans in the Orient, the 1,200-ton steamer Ecuador sailed Monday for the Far East.

Aboard the Ecuador were Mrs. Katherine L. De Witt of 321 Pala avenue, Piedmont; Mrs. Cora B. Smith, of Berkeley; Mr. and Mrs. Alexander R. M. Blackhall and their six-year-old son, Alexander, of Berkeley. Mrs. De Witt is the wife of a prominent attorney now in Manila. Mrs. Smith also is going to visit her son, who is general manager of the Pacific-Philippines Telegraph and Telephone Company at Manila, the Blackhalls are en route to Hongkong where Mr. Blackhall is connected with the Hongkong Shanghai Banking Corporation.

Fahy to Talk Over Traffic Regulations

At a meeting of the Merchants' Exchange tonight, Sergeant J. T. Fahy, chief of the traffic bureau of the Oakland police department, will address the Exchange and guests on the traffic problem of the city. Sergeant Fahy will discuss parking, signals, zoning and similar features of the traffic problem.

Inasmuch as a new drastic traffic ordinance is in preparation and because the Exchange has received many appeals for support in obtaining parking right extensions, the meeting will be thrown open to all persons interested.

I. H. Spiro, president of the Exchange, will occupy the chair. The Exchange meeting place is at 412 Thirteenth street.

School for Janitors Planned By Board

Oakland is going to have a school of instruction for janitors and custodians. The Board of Education last night, at the suggestion of Dr. Pease, decided to make the establishment of the janitors' college a special order of business at the next session of the board, when it will be seen if there is any money for the purpose.

The janitors' college will have a course in its program. It is proposed in the interests of better janitorial technique. The graduates will go into Oakland's schools, armed with their new knowledge and diplomas, and make 'em shine.

A concert of interest at Mills College not only to students but to their friends will be given by the Glee Club of the University of California Friday evening in Lister Hall. This concert is given annually at Mills College, and is always a looked forward to with anticipation.

On the following Friday a concert will be given in Alumnae Hall by the students of Prof. Edward F. Schneider and Elizabeth Mackall, members of the music department at Mills College.

Irish Riots Cause Big Damage Claims

BELFAST, Oct. 19.—Claims for damage caused in the Belfast riots in July and August amount to $7,000,000 while Lisburn's loss of destruction resulted in claims for $4,000,000. Lisburn is a town of 12,500 population and owes its name curiously to its destruction by fire in 1787. Its townspeople are taking the situation philosophically and remark that "when the Sinn Feiners pay the government for destroyed court-houses and barracks we will pay and not till then."

League Refuses to Hear Jewish Grievs

LONDON, Oct. 19 (Jewish Telegraph Agency).—Earl Curzon, the foreign secretary, in a recent letter to the joint foreign committee of the British Jewry, notified the committee that in the future all cases of ill treatment of Jews should be taken up with the League of Nations and not with the British foreign office.

Upon receipt of the foreign minister's communication, Lucien Wolf, secretary of the joint foreign committee, took up with the league the question of the ill treatment of Jews in Poland, but was informed, it is stated, that the league at present had no machinery to deal with such emergency cases. Wolf thereupon returned to the foreign office and asked England's protection for Jews.

PARIS GAMBLING HOUSES CLOSED; 'SPORTS' MOURN

PARIS, Oct. 19.—The "big" has been shut down tight on gambling. Without warning the police started their campaign by swooping down on several palatial billiard palaces on the Grand Boulevards. It was found that thousands of people bet millions of francs in these places daily on the results of the games played by professionals. One of the billiard rooms was the most famous in Europe. It has been closed for an indefinite period.

War also has been declared on bookmakers who haunt the "American" bars. There are several hundred of these bars in Paris, mostly directed by Americans, and most have sprung into existence since prohibition in America. In most of them bets on the day racing were placed across the bars.

Old Ways and New

Way back in 1889, when this store was in its acorn days, store conveniences as they now exist were unknown. Dependable merchandise and a business policy of fair dealing were the magnets that drew customers.

Store spirit was fervent. Back in those days women discussed CAPWELL store atmosphere with their neighbors.

On our books at the present day are still the names of many of those valuable customers who have traded with us throughout the years because this store atmosphere still exists, and CAPWELL business policies continue to please.

Narrow aisles, small shelves, crude methods of handling business all gave way in time as Oakland grew.

CAPWELLS expanded time and time again until the ambition of a great new building was realized in this present structure. Even here, in the few years of our occupancy, new facilities and methods of serving the public have been added until today.

CAPWELL SERVICE means a specialized service.

It means a large building particularly well arranged to make your shopping easy.

It means a great, well trained organization working together as one individual for assured satisfaction.

It means hundreds of thousands of dollars in desirable, dependable merchandise.

It means good air, good light, good arrangement of stocks, convenient elevators, escalators and stairways, and every possible arrangement to lessen congestion and make shopping comfortable.

It means a careful delivery of goods.

It means the lowest prices the market at any time affords.

It means assured merit in everything you buy.

The new CAPWELLS stands for more modern facilities, more and larger quantities of dependable merchandise, greater dimensions by far, but the old business policy, "satisfaction to customers," remains unchanged.

Douglas to Debate Bill With Seavey

BERKELEY, Oct. 19.—Professor J. S. Douglas of the University of California will meet Clyde Seavey in a debate upon the merits of the proposed university amendment on October 23. Douglas will defend the measure, and the debate will be held on the university campus.

One Killed, Three Hurt When Auto Overtakes

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 19.—One man was killed and three seriously injured in an automobile accident, due to the rain, that happened last night on the Newhall grade, 30 miles northeast of Los Angeles. Their car skidded and turned over.

'CRIMSON ALIBI' SOME MYSTERY

At that moment when, in most plays, the short-skirted and black-hooded maid is waving a fairy-wand duster over the library furniture, there enters, instead, in "The Crimson Alibi" at the Fulton, one hand cased in rubber. The hand closes on a silver knife and moves with an accompanying shadow, across the room. There is a flash of the dagger in the lamplight and then, before the audience has really settled in its seats, old Joshua Quincy has been murdered and there is the very deuce to pay.

The old story that opens with a cuss-word from the duchess does not win any more immediate excitement. Who is the old fellow and why was he stabbed, ask all of the amateur sleuths in front of the footlights, and then there rises one concentrated thought-wave, wiggling its intercession with the certainty and pith of the wireless. "Who did it?"

There are four men who possessed the desire to kill old Joshua and who were furnished with motive. He was a mean old skink, and why was he stabbed, ask all of the amateur sleuths in front of the footlights, and then there rises one concentrated thought-wave, wiggling its intercession with the certainty and pith of the wireless. "Who did it?"

Very few in last night's audience had any idea as to which man killed Joshua Quincy. The test of a detective story is in its surprise and in its logical development, and "The Crimson Alibi" meets the test. Katherine Van Buren, as sweet heart of the ex-convict who is caught up in the web of suspicion, made her debut with the Fulton players. She gave the role a tense and individual reading and is astonishingly fair to look upon. Other newcomers to the company are Talbot Henderson and Lou Morrison, both of whom were viewed critically by the Fulton regulars, duly elected and endowed with all the privileges of the order. Emmet Melville, specially engaged as the housekeeper, and George Taylor Jr. had the comedy roles. —A. B. S.

Pigeon Men Favor Work of Lions Club

An appreciation of the assistance of the Oakland Den of Lions in bringing the 1921 pigeon convention to this city, was expressed in a letter received today by that organization from the Hunt Club of Hayward. Further help in arranging the gathering on the date to be announced later was promised in a letter sent in answer to the Hayward organization by F. H. Woodward, secretary of the local Lions.

FAMOUS OLD 'DEKE' HOUSE IS NO MORE

BERKELEY, Oct. 19.—The Delta Kappa Epsilon house at Telegraph avenue and Durant, scene of the "strip poker" party which shocked the university last spring, has been dismantled to the foundation by wreckers. With the completion of the work construction of an apartment house will begin. Members of the "Deke" fraternity are living with other fraternities until the ban set by President David P. Barrett is raised when they will commence the construction of a new chapter house on Piedmont avenue.

HAYNES SHOW DRAWS CROWDS

There has been much interest manifested in the automobile show being held at the Haynes salesrooms this week. Wallace W. Nail, manager of Philip S. Cole Inc., Haynes distributors, and his force are busy telling motor fans about the new models and explaining the mechanical features.

"This is the first time this year that we have been able to obtain a complete line of open and closed cars," says Nail. "The show includes the speedster, a unique car, built for speed. It is of a bright hue, with six wire wheels. The spares are mounted on the side of the car. We have one of each model, open and closed. Haynes have called thus far to inspect them."

The salesrooms have been taste fully decorated, and are open seven days during the show.

'ROBIN HOOD' IS OPERA ATTRACTION

"Robin Hood," a comic opera of far more than passing quality, and one that will bring pleasing memories of another day to theater goers of practically three decades ago, is an entertainment feature in Oakland this week.

Shown at Ye Liberty Theater, the production is said to have lost none of the qualities that endeared it to the public when the legitimate stage was in its prime, and it is obviously enhanced by modern theatrical effects.

The opera was written and first produced by Reginald De Koven and Harry P. Smith in 1890. Its premiere appearance in the Euclid Avenue Opera House in Cleveland, was the beginning of a long and popular reign in the musical world.

It has been revived this week in Oakland with all of its former splendor, and is presented by a cast familiar to the last degree with the score, and well able to place a clever interpretation on intricacies of the plot.

Hospital Federation to Plan for Season

Plans for the 1920-21 season of the Alameda County Hospital Federation, will be discussed at a general meeting of the organization Wednesday evening at the Merchants' Exchange building, according to an announcement made today.

Members of the federation hope to surpass the record made a year ago, when approximately $2000 was raised. Similar plans are to be contemplated at the meeting, and the appointment of special committees to handle the work will be completed. Special attention will be paid, it is said, to the Arroyo sanitarium, a tubercular institution at Livermore, where 22 children and 120 men and women are receiving treatment.

More men use Gillette Blades than voted for all the presidential candidates in the last election.

The people are for it

WHEREVER you find men, whatever their station in life.

Shirtsleeve men, top-hat men, men in overalls, business men, farmers, professional men.

Men in the crowded cities. Men who work in the great outdoors.

More men have voluntarily chosen the Gillette Razor and Gillette Blades than ever before agreed on any one subject.

Blades at a low price, so men can throw a blade away after it has given many satisfactory shaves and put in another.

Two-edge Blades made of the finest quality of high carbon steel, scientifically sharpened at the factory, each edge the most lasting shaving edge ever produced.

Elected by 20,000,000 men with every type of beard and texture of skin as the one and only Blade that is uniformly right all the way through.

A quarter million dealers have no better satisfied customers than the millions of men who come in regularly to buy Gillette Blades.

Release for Women who Suffer

The multitude of American women who suffer terribly day after day and year after year from ills peculiar to their sex is almost beyond belief—yet there is hardly a town or hamlet in the United States wherein some woman, and often many, do not reside who have been restored to health from some of the worst forms of female ills, and often avoided operations by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

These Two Women Tell of Their Experience.

Carrollton, Ky.—"I suffered almost two years with female weakness. I could not walk any distance, ride or take any exercise at all without resting. If I swept the floor or did any kind of work it would bring my sickness on. I was weak and languid, had no energy, and life was a misery to me. I was under the care of a good physician for several months and tried other remedies. I had read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. After taking twelve bottles I found myself much improved and I took six more. I have never had any more trouble in that respect since. I have done all kinds of work and at present am an attendant at a State Hospital and am feeling fine. I shall always recommend your Vegetable Compound."—JILLIAN THARP, 824 South 6th Street, Carrollton, Ky.

Onalaska, Wis.—"Every month I had such pains in my back and lower part of stomach I could not lie in bed. I suffered so I seemed as though I would die, and I was not regular either. I suffered for a year and was unfit to do my housework, could only wash dishes once in a while. I read an advertisement of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other women and decided to try it. It surely did wonders for me. I have no pains now and can do my own housework without any trouble at all. I will always praise your medicine as I do not believe there is a doctor that can do as much good for female weakness as can Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and you may use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. LESTER E. WARNER, R. 1, Box 69, Onalaska, Wis.

L. A. Man Who Pushed Cart to N. Y. Missing

Fears for the safety of Fred Elliott, 71 years old, who gained national notice when he pushed a cart filled with religious literature from Los Angeles to New York, were expressed by police officials here yesterday following his disappearance from his home, 2119 Twenty-third Avenue, this city.

The missing man's son, C. A. Elliott, reported his father had been dependent for some time. Saturday morning he disappeared.

Working on the theory that the old man may have committed or attempted to commit suicide, the police were conducting a search throughout the entire bay region today.

A BUILDING AND REBUILDING TONIC

Not Alcoholic—Not Habit Forming.

Buoyant, joyous health does not follow artificial stimulation of alcohol or alcoholic tonics. Beware of preparations that give temporary exhilaration by means of alcohol. Alcohol is a narcotic poison and is habit-forming.

If you are run-down, weak, nervous—suffering from a multitude of vague, annoying symptoms, take a real Re-Building Tonic.

Neal-Tone

A tonic compounded by the widely known physician, Dr. B. L. Neal, who founded the 35 Neal Institutes for drink and drug habits in principal cities. Neal-Tone is not a cereal tonic. It is not alcoholic but is sold in convenient tablet form, pleasant and easy to take. Try it for five days. Buy 12. Try it for five days. See your druggist is instructed to give you a sample package at our expense. Or send ten cents for postage and mailing expense to Dr. B. L. Neal, Neal Medicine Company, or W. S. Wallace, 1550 Fell Street, Dept. U, San Francisco, Cal., and a free sample will be mailed you in a plain wrapper.—Advertisement.

Discolored, Wrinkled Skin Easily Removed

Since brown or yellow, overcast or blotchy complexion are decidedly out of fashion, it is difficult to understand why so many continue to wear them. Surely every woman has heard of mercurized wax. This will positively banish every unsightly tint. The wax really takes off a bad complexion. It gradually, harmlessly, absorbs the thin layer of surface skin with such defects as liver spots, pimples, freckles, blackheads. Just as gradually the discarded skin is replaced by the clear, white, youthful skin underneath. Mercurized wax, procurable at any drug store is applied nightly with cold cream and erased morning with warm water. One ounce will produce the loveliest complexion in less than a week.

It is hard to understand, also, why folks will be bothered with wrinkles, since the famous scientific formula has become public property. One ounce of powdered salolite dissolved in a half-pint witch hazel, makes a wash lotion that will quickly erase every line, even the deepest.—Advertisement.

News of the Churches

The church, now admittedly a potent factor in influencing the life and thought of each community, is endeavoring to aid in solving some of the problems that face the world. Services for Sunday morning, the numerous denominations in Oakland and Berkeley, will serve to show the diverse problems, which through study and thought, the pastors are striving to find answers to.

Rev. Charles L. Kloss, of Plymouth Congregational church, sees in the new order of things which has come out of the war a crisis which must exist until the setting process is complete, which he believes will only be through the application of the laws of the New Testament. "There is no liberty without law," he said. "The law of liberty is given in the New Testament—the law of human brotherhood, of the great good to the greatest."

A plea for more care in the religious education of the child was made by Rev. Fred W. Morrison of the First Congregational Church, who stated that the child needs religious and spiritual instruction as much as he needs instruction in other fundamental subjects.

Charles D. Muliken of the Piedmont church, made a plea for optimism in his sermon Sunday. He said in life nothing of the great existence, provided the right perspective is secured, through Divine teachings.

PLYMOUTH CONGREGATIONAL.

The Catholic church is not a menace. The indifferent churchman is the real menace. Thus spoke Dr. Charles L. Kloss, pastor of Plymouth Congregational Church, in a sermon Sunday night on "Is the Catholic Church a Menace?" in which he discussed the power of the Catholic Church in the world, its influence in politics and in the schools, and the growth of the Catholic order is due to the belief that Catholicism possesses all the truth.

The Catholic church, instead of being a menace, he said, "has made a distinct and important contribution to the faith of the world and the growth of this nation. Probably its greatest contribution is its practice of constructive religion with dignity. I do not advocate the teaching of any certain religious doctrine in the schools. I do not even insist that the Bible should be taught there, certainly not such portions as contain matter involving diversity of belief."

The religion that should be taught is that contained in the parable of the prodigal son or of the good Samaritan—not dogma but great moral truth.

Catholics and Protestants must live together in America and should do so harmoniously. Instead of attacking the Catholics let Protestants busy themselves with forming a great union of Protestant churches.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN.

Rev. F. M. Sibley preached at the First Presbyterian Church Sunday evening on "The Black Prince's Revival." He said:

Satan is making his master drive today. The Tempter is the most active today in the history of the world. This is in confirmation of Christ's prophecy.

The Tempter appears today not as an incarnate fiend but as an angel of light. The evidence of his revival is the surprising tails of the most unlikely persons the whiskey scandals, the political scandals, the indifference of the multitude to the spiritual appeal and the general revival in world lines.

The doctrine that Satan is using to make converts is varied but generally speaking it is the appeal of the world's good time, the dollar, prosperity and religion. Satan is recruiting today most largely as a religiousist and is introducing all modern substitutes for Christianity. The only way to break the power of Satan's revival is wholehearted surrender of the life to Christ.

FIRST CHRISTIAN.

Sunday night at the First Christian church.

church Rev. H. A. Van Winkle, the pastor, spoke on the theme, "Solves in Sheep's Clothing," pointing out that Christ thus characterized the hypocrite. "The evangelist men in sheep's clothing," said Rev. Van Winkle. "He does not necessarily smoke, drink or swear. He will come to you with his mouth open and his teeth showing, you have a certain amount of respect for him because he is not ashamed of his nativity. But when he comes in the path of a sheep, you lose all of your respect for him."

Hypocrites in the past have been as numerous as the sheep, but why should they be, for there are hypocrites in society, business education religion and secret orders. It is a mistake to condemn any organization as a whole on the ground that it contains hypocrites. Such a principle is a violation of the law of the earth, even our own government.

In the morning service, Rev. Van Winkle spoke on the subject, "Three Reasons Why We Should Belong to the Church."

FIRST M. E. CHURCH.

The Gentleness of God, was the sermon topic of Rev. John L. Smith Sunday morning. Dr. Smith spoke from the text, "The Gentleness of God." The modern world is made up of great things, but the greatest thing of all is the gentleness of God. The modern world is made up of great things, but the greatest thing of all is the gentleness of God. The modern world is made up of great things, but the greatest thing of all is the gentleness of God.

Dr. Paul Mansfield, pastor of the First M. E. church, spoke Sunday evening on "The Certainty of Belief." He said that the certainty of belief is the greatest thing in the world. The modern world is made up of great things, but the greatest thing of all is the gentleness of God.

MARY'S DIVORCE CASE IS AGAIN PLACED AHEAD

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—Trial of the case of the State of Nevada against Gladys M. Moore known also as Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks and as Mary Pickford, motion picture actress, and her former husband, Owen Moore, also a motion picture performer, to dissolve the decree of divorce obtained by Mrs. Fairbanks in Minden, has been postponed a second time. It was announced yesterday by her attorney.

It was to have been held November 6. The new date has not been announced.

Argument will be on a motion to quash the action brought by the divorcee to have the divorce decree invalidated in the event the motion is granted the case will end, unless an appeal is taken. If the motion is granted the action will be dismissed.

THOMPSON CASE DISMISSED.

Lack of evidence brought about dismissal of charges of passing counterfeit checks on file against R. S. Thompson when his case came up before Police Judge Samuels.

Why Teeth Stain

You leave a film-coat on them

All statements approved by authorities

Most teeth are dimmed more or less by a film. Smokers' teeth often become darkly coated.

That film makes teeth look dingy, and most tooth troubles are now traced to it.

Millions now combat that film in a new, scientific way. This is to offer a test to you, to show the unique results.

You must end film

The film is viscous—you can feel it with your tongue. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays.

Ordinary brushing methods leave much of this film intact. So millions find that well-brushed teeth discolor and decay. You must attack film in a better way, else you will suffer from it.

It is the film-coat that discolors, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

MY HEART AND MY HUSBAND

"But—how— I stammered. "You don't want to leave one of the machines by the roadside, do you?" "Would if I had to," he retorted, cheerfully. "But it won't be necessary. You drive pretty well for a beginner. You aren't nervous in straight driving where you don't have to back or turn, and know the road, but can you put up a pretty good clip?"

"I think so," I answered, amazed at the accurate way he had gauged the good and weak points of my driving. The Taxi Maker. "Then I guess I'd better take the pace through the woods," he said. "I'd go tacky, trying to keep back of you, and it will be easy for you to keep just enough distance back of me to be able to stop if I do. Don't worry. I won't do any war messenger stunts. I'll slow up on curves and when I come to a bad stretch of road I'll put my hand out and write my fingers so— no illustrated meaning graphically— then you can throw your engine into low. But don't be afraid to use a little gas, for I'm going to hit up a clip when there's good going and you must keep right back of me. If you need me just bang that horn and keep it going. I'll be right on the job. This would wake up Gabriel, that horn." I laughed involuntarily, for the horn I had bought for the machine was a source of amusement to all my friends. It is a shrieking discordant thing, but it serves my purpose of effectually warning children and adults both of whom I dread desperately when driving. We were at the door of my car by this time, and Mr. Underwood had deftly assisted me in before I had time to evade him.

"You," he said with the first bit of silliness I had seen in him. "Well, I don't know as I blame you." But I've heard you laugh again. That's something, and please remember that it'll be all right with you if I don't get the chance to be in the way."

Kamouant, distasteful to me in the extreme as he was, there nevertheless was in his voice and even the first touch of sincerity I had seen in his reiteration. It was as if I had suddenly seen a mask dropped from his face, or rather, for I had no illusion concerning any latent self of Harry Underwood's hiding beneath a mask—as if a gleam of the man he was meant to be had filtered through the unreluctant stiffness of him.

The next instant he had lifted his cap and had jumped into his own machine. In another minute I found myself trailing after him, hoping grimly that I would be able to keep up the pace he was setting. When I have grown so senile and foolish, and my machine's engine is altogether I shall be able to forget the motor drive through the door to Southampton in which Harry Underwood "set the pace." Until then it will be one of the most vivid of my recollections.

To him, of course it was an ordinary speed. But to me it was a Valkyrie-like ride, in which with set teeth and living loquacity, my one thought was to keep Mr. Underwood's car in view.

The nature of the winding road made this impossible at times but it would be only a few minutes before I caught sight of him again. From the way he kept looking back I judged, that though he was "setting the pace" he was yet keeping a strict watch upon my driving, accommodating his ideas of speed to my inexperience, and this thought was the only solace I had in the difficult task I had before me.

For, queerly enough, considering the aversion which I had felt for Harry Underwood, I now watched him as a child would gaze at a father in time of peril. The thought of the man somewhere behind me on the road, the man whom Mr. Underwood's graphic tongue had pictured as letting no opportunity slip to spy upon me, terrified me so awfully that I was glad to forget everything disagreeable about Harry Underwood and to remember only with deep thankfulness his great physical strength, his quickness and resourcefulness and his expressed determination to protect me at all hazards.

"All hell can't get at you if I only get the chance to be in the way," he had said, and the very words gave me a sense of security that nothing else could, it was so characteristic of the old daredevil Harry Underwood I had known, who stopped at nothing if he was enlisted in the cause of a friend.

There were few cars on the road and we were going at such a pace that no cars passed us. Instead, Mr. Underwood had gone past three, and I had obediently but fearfully followed—an experience which made me feel as if my heart were detached up into my throat.

Over sixty million breakfasts with Maple Karo last year

Does it interest you to know that Maple Karo outsells all different kinds of maple syrups? Delicious flavor—moderate price the reason.

Two big reasons stand out for the record breaking sales of Maple Karo.

First—the flavor of Maple Karo is not an "imitation." The makers are the world's largest users of the purest and best flavored maple sugar.

Over a thousand tons are brought annually from Vermont and Canada—where the finest maple trees grow.

This sugar is used to make Maple Karo and to give it its delicious flavor.

The second reason is quite as interesting as the first.

Maple Karo is remarkably moderate in price—selling at a lower price than any other syrup of approaching quality and flavor.

Over five million cans were sold last year.

Get a can of Maple Karo in the GREEN CAN from your grocer today. If you are not pleased with it, the grocer will gladly return your money.

VAUDEVILLE is intrinsically episodic and discontinuous. Its audiences do not demand denouement. Sufficient unto each "turn" is the exit thereof. No one cares how many romances the singing comedienne may have had if she can calmly sustain the limelight and a high note or two. The audiences react not if the performing dogs get to the round the moment they have jumped through their last hoop. They do not desire bulletins about the possible injuries received by the comic bicyclist who retires head-first from the stage in a crash of (property) chinaware. Neither do they consider that their seat coupons entitle them to be instructed whether or no there is a sentiment between the lady solo banjoist and the Irish monologist.

Therefore let us have no lifting of the curtain upon a tableau of the united lovers, backgrounded by decorated villainy and degraded by the comic, oscillating maid and butler, brown in as a sop to the Corbett of the fifty-cent seats.

But our program ends with a brief "turn" or two; and then to the exits. Whoever sits the show out may find if he will, the slender thread that binds together, though ever so slightly, the story that perhaps, only the Walrus will understand.

My Dear Mr. Goodwin—Your communication per Messrs. Howland and Fouchet, of New Orleans, has reached us. Also their draft on N. Y. for $100,000, the amount abstracted from the funds of this company by the late J. Churchill Wahrfield, its former president.

The officers and directors unite in requesting me to express to you their sincere esteem and thanks for your prompt and much appreciated return of the missing sum within two weeks from the time of its disappearance.

Can assure you that the matter will not be allowed to receive the least publicity. Regret exceedingly the distressing

The Vitaphonoscope (Moving Pictures)
THE LAST SAUSAGE
Scene—An Artist's Studio. The artist, a young man of prepossessing appearance, sits in a dejected attitude, amid a litter of sketches, with his head resting upon his hand. An oil stove stands on a pine box in the center of the studio. The artist rises, tightens his waist belt to another hole, and lights the stove. He goes to a tin bread box, half-hidden by a screen, takes out a solitary link of sausage, turns the box upside-down to show that there is no more, and chuckes the sausage into a frying-pan, which he sets upon the stove. The flame of the stove goes out, showing that there is no more oil. The artist, in evident despair, seizes the sausage, in a sudden fit of rage, and hurls it violently from him. At the same time a door opens, and a man who enters receives the sausage forcibly against his nose. He seems to cry out; and is observed to make a dance step or two, vigorously. The newcomer is a ruddy-faced, active, keen-looking man, apparently of Irish ancestry. Then he goes through a pantomime which to the sufficiently intelligent spectator reveals that he has acquired large sums of money by trading not-metal hatchets and razors to the Indians of the Cordillera Mountains for gold dust. He draws a roll of bread from the pocket and waves it above his head, while at the same time he makes pantomime of drinking from a glass. The artist hurriedly secures his hat, and the two leave the studio together, observed to laugh immoderately; he kicks over the stove; he claps the artist on the back.

THE WRITING ON THE SANDS
Scene—The Beach at Nice. A woman, beautiful, still young, exquisitely clothed, complacent, poised, reclines near the water, idly scribbling letters in the sand with the stem of her silken parasol. The beauty of her face is audacious; her languid pose is one that she expects to be impermanent; you wait, expectant, for her to spring or glide or crawl, like a panther that has unconsciously become still. She idly crawls in the sand; and the word that she always writes is "Isabel." A man sits a few yards away. You can see that they are companions, even if no longer comrades. His face is dark and smooth, and almost inscrutable, but not quite. The two speak little together. The man also scratches on the sand with his cane. And the word that he writes is "Anchuria." And then he looks out where the Mediterranean and the sky intermingle, with death in his gaze.

THE WILDERNESS AND THOU
Scene—The Borders of a Gentleman's Estate in a Tropical Land. An old Indian, with a mangrove-colored face, is trimming the grass on a grave by a mangrove swamp. Presently he glances to his feet and waits slowly toward a grove that is shaded by the gathering twilight. In the edge of the grove stands a man who is stalwart, with a kind and courteous air, and a woman of a serene and clear-cut loveliness. When the old Indian comes up to them the man drops money in his hand. The grave-digger, with the stolid pride of his race, takes it and his duty is done. The two in the edge of the grove turn back along the dim pathway, and walk on—on, after all, what is the world at its best but a little round field of the moving pictures with two walking together in it?

McCurrie Is Not Against Vivisection

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—Following an exhaustive investigation of conditions surrounding surgical experiments conducted upon animals for surgical research, some members of the San Francisco Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals officially went on record as opponents of state amendment No. 7. The measure is intended to curtail practices in vivisection.

"Our inquiry has shown that the animals receive the same care and consideration as accorded human beings, and in view of the good accomplished by the experiments, we feel that we cannot support the proposed law," said Secretary Matthew McCurrie today.

There is something about the intimacy, the personal attention, the very "littleness" of the small shop which makes buying a pleasure.

But to buy from many specialty shops means hunting for so many different locations—dealing with so many different people—that you have not the time for it and are forced to the larger store.

Through our 26 shop-in-one plan—this novel and unique idea—buying through specialty shops—with all their intimacy and personal expert attention—is delightfully simple for you. These shops, which offer you women's, misses' and children's wear, are gathered together in one commodious building for your convenience.

Each shop is a distinct unit—a separate booth—designed to display some special line of wearing apparel. In this cozy little booth you can make your selection in privacy, in perfect quiet—without confusion or distraction.

In charge of each shop is a director who has a real interest in you because it is "her" shop. She has been chosen because she knows her garments—every stitch and thread. If you know what you want, she will understand, and have it brought to you at once. If you are not sure just what suits you her specialized experience will be of value to you.

These Specialty Shops will please you.

German Traders

Busy in Far East

TOKYO, Oct. 19.—With restoration of peace, there are growing signs of activity of German traders in the Far East, says the newspaper Yamato. The German business men are arriving here in numbers, the latest arrivals numbering about 60.

These Germans are chiefly the representatives of German importing houses and already have contracted for purchase of a large quantity of canned goods and various other provisions.

If you see it in THE TRIBUNE tell them so.

Japanese Students

Majority in Hawaii

HONOLULU, T. H., Oct. 19.—There are more children of Japanese descent attending the Japanese language schools of Hawaii than are found in the American public schools, according to incomplete statistics compiled by the territorial department of public instruction.

It is estimated that 20,000 children of Japanese descent are enrolled in 115 language schools, with 450 alien teachers, many of whom cannot speak English to any degree, instructing them.

The total enrollment in the public schools of all races is in the neighborhood of 40,000.

THE YOUNG ALSACE.

A movement which should be scanned carefully for traces of a German propaganda is that started by the executive committee of the Free State of Alsace-Lorraine for an independent state of Alsace and Lorraine.

Based on an argument that both France and Germany have proved, to their own satisfaction, ownership to the territory that neither country has assimilated the peoples, a group calling itself "Young Alsace," has appealed to the world through circulars mailed broadcast for a hearing of its argument.

An historical survey of Alsace-Lorraine beginning with German invasions in the year 300 and including the familiar claim, backed by anthropological authority, that Alsatian origin is Celtic, is included in the arguments, and the appeal is to "the civilized world, without consideration of nationality, to pass judgment and to give moral support." In this argument bitter charges are made against both Germany and France and there is no indication of a leaning in either direction. It is because Germany would have nothing to lose by the fostering of this agitation and, at the same time, would be striking a blow at France, that the appeal should be given a close scrutiny.

The Alsatian committee, on the face of it, asks for an independent state patterned after Switzerland. It purports to be a sane agitation concerned with argument and opposed to emotion. If the Young Alsace movement is in truth what it would appear to be and if it has any considerable support at home its arguments will win consideration on their merits.

"HARD-BOILED" SMITH FREE.

It is not so long ago that the public, especially that part that served in the world war, was giving an amazed consideration to the short sentence imposed on "Hard-Boiled" Smith. The recital of cruelties he administered to enlisted prisoners in his prison-farm near Chelms was a story to stir a national wrath and the eighteen month sentence was generally regarded as being too light.

Now comes the word that Smith has been paroled since last March and that he served but half of the sentence. Some of his prisoners are still in jail. Some of them died at Chelms. It is said that the colonel directly responsible was sent home and discharged from the service before the investigation reached him.

As in the case of the departure of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll from prison, the responsibility for the liberation of Smith has not been fixed. It has not been explained why there was an effort to keep secret the fact that the "hard-boiled" one was out on parole and there seems to be no one in high official capacity who will say that he even so much as agrees that Smith should be at large. "Hard-Boiled" Smith, the possessor of a record for brutality that shocked the world, is free and it is more than a turnkey or a warden who is responsible. The great body of service men, and the public in general, would welcome some words of explanation.

WOULD ERASE NEVADA.

The Boston opinion regarding the state of Nevada, if the venerable Transcript may be considered to reflect it, is that the commonwealth of mines and rugged manhood has little excuse for existence and would be better off if parcelled among its neighbors. It is in such expression as one looks for from the center of culture in the East and is one to occasion wonderment until the political motive is discovered. In politics bespectacled and proper Boston is as hoisterous and vituperative as any of the rougher cities or camps in the West.

"Nevada's position as the rotten borough in the American Union is emphasized by the 1920 census," says The Transcript in an argument intended to show that any State with but 77,197 inhabitants is not entitled to two senators or three votes in the electoral college.

Disregarding Nevada's expanse of territory, its contribution to the wealth of the Nation, and its distinct and peculiar claims for representation by men who know its resources and its needs, Boston puts forth the proposal that Nevada be cut in two, half given to California and half to Utah. Consent of the legislatures of the three States, says The Transcript, and of Congress, is all that would be necessary.

In Boston, where they think Berkeley is a rural town, "remote from the centers of culture," and where they have no comprehension of the Sierra as a dividing line, or of what a country owes to the men who settle the wastes and develop the mines, a belief is held that Nevada should be erased from the map.

There have been certain Boston accents in national administration but as yet the Boston grum-matter has not succeeded in removing the capital from Washington. Nevada will remain Nevada for some time to come.

HIGHER PAY FOR JUDGES.

There is an initiative proposal on the November ballot to increase the salaries of the Justices of the State Supreme Court and the District Courts of Appeal. The compensation of each Justice of the Supreme Court would be raised from $8000 to $10,000 a year and of each Justice of the Courts of Appeal from $7000 to $9000 a year.

The salaries of the Justices of the Supreme Court and Appellate Courts were fixed in 1906, over fourteen years ago. The proposed increase would add 25 percent to the salary of a Supreme Court Justice and about 29 percent to that of an Appellate Court Justice. This is not a large increase and if the raise in cost of living was considered it is inadequate to bring the purchasing power of the justices' salary up to what it was in 1906.

But there is a still more impelling consideration—that the higher compensation will draw men of the greatest ability to the higher courts. Money spent in obtaining men of ability, honesty and judicial fitness to serve on the higher courts will be well spent.

The present proposal, No. 3 on the ballot, will add only $14,000 to the cost of government for the entire State. Vote for No. 3.

RUMMAGE AND ROMANCE.

One who has traveled the traditional seven seas and who, in the haste of following the beck of Baedeker, returned with an odd mixture of statistics and very little of enjoyment, has made a startling discovery. There are, says he, more stories in a church rummage sale than there are in the mystic Marquesas.

The fat brown umbrella on the table near the door used to belong to Deacon Jones, and there is no one in town who does not remember its daily journeyings in rain or shine. The doughty deacon, who died in the middle and his clenched fist has left a "waist-line" in the cloth. And now the man who solicited so many subscriptions to the church has gone and his family has sent the umbrella to the rummage sale. The auctioneer from somebody else's house could recount tales of discussion, theological and otherwise, that would shake the congregation, and the pug dog made of china, now disconsolate and stained, was once a coveted parlor ornament.

Nowhere else may one see the feather-flowers under the glass doilies, the wooden ships some one has carved inside of a bottle, the mottoes worked by grandmother when she was a girl, and the genuine oil painting done by the youngest child of somebody's cousin.

If people could be rid of the rummage of prejudices, passions and habits as easily as they may shift on the weight of ownership in material possessions that have become cumbersome, an astonishing freshening of the mental atmosphere would result. Whether one is a materialist or idealist depends in part upon his beliefs as to the proportion of romance in rummage.

It is contended by a modern social essayist that manhood, organized in such groups as fraternal societies, is performing an important service for a progressive civilization. The point is well made; for there are none of the purely fraternal lodges or societies, maintained without ulterior objects, out are formed to afford opportunity to follow higher ideals. The tendency of individual men thus grouped and associated is to live up to the high ideals that are outlined by them en masse.

In Los Angeles a pickpocket stole a powder-puff from a policeman. It would seem that criminals might pursue their avocations without being unnecessarily provoking.

BREAK IN THE SOLID SOUTH.

Senator Harding is making a wise move when he invades the border States of Kentucky, Missouri, Indiana and Tennessee, said Frederick T. Winston of Louisville, Ky., at the Lafayette. "I think the Republican party has the best chance in its history to break into the so-called Solid South," he said. "I think that Tennessee or Kentucky may lead the break. I have been in Tennessee recently, and the Democrats there are fairly split over the passage of the suffrage amendment. They are fighting each other in many of the counties, where the Republicans are united as never before. You will remember that on one other occasion when the Democrats were split, that time on the liquor question, the Republicans elected a governor for the consecutive term."

"With this record upon which to base an opinion, I believe that Senator Harding, with his splendid personality and his direct presentation of the issues of the campaign, can carry the State. And if he does not carry Tennessee, he has a mighty good chance of carrying Kentucky this year. I think the Republicans of the Bluegrass State are united as never before, and they are going to make a desperate effort to win in November. Senator Harding's appearance will give us a greater impetus to their campaign and will go a long way toward carrying the State. Of course, I understand it is doubtful that from a recent brief trip through Indiana I do not think there is the least doubt that the Republicans will carry the Hoosier State by at least 50,000 majority."—Washington Post.

NOTES and COMMENT

Weather forecasters seem to be very busy just now. Those who prophesied dryness are overhauling their dope and explaining why the elements do not function as they forecast, and those who saw it wet are justifying. Nothing seems to disconcert the weather prophet.

The Skull and Kees affair may prompt the comment that too many incidents and events are reported from that institution that do not get into the news. Ten thousand students is a large body, it is true, and due allowance must be made for the exuberance of youth, but still there are bounds.

Rats are favored as subjects for laboratory use. A University of California student is said to have reported that they are "well adapted" to scientific experiments. The only thing about that is that it might rob vivisectionists of their battle-cries. It would be difficult to work up popular sympathy for a rat.

Over-alert paragraphists may see in the announcement that a cargo of sulphur has arrived at an Oakland wharf opportunity to make comparison with a certain fabled Sulphur spring, but it is all right as a matter of commercial incident and no such thing as a free port will not be admitted to explain or apologize for.

Apparently there is some idea that this administration, as well as the campaign, should have a wholusmic finish. The appointment of Governor Harrison's father-in-law to an easy $25,000 job in the Philippines is in point. Such things reflect on United States control and furnish an argument for those who are striving to end it.

The announcement is made that "Creel fails in mission to Mexico." Exactly what his mission was has not been stated, but great hopes of any desirable success could not have been seriously entertained by the discerning. What will now be hoped, however, is that the situation has not been further muddled.

The wine grape men who were "ruined" by the Eighteenth amendment will be interested in the recent report of frenzied buying in New York, where prices were run up to $250 a ton for the Mission variety. The price may be speculative, but the boom is not bearing out some dire predictions.

Senator Spencer of Missouri, who has locked horns with the President as to what was promised Rumania, refuses to be vanquished and has come nearer leaving himself than the President has to confusing him. He is rather noticeably bearing out that Missouri trait of having to be shown.

There is a noticeable tendency in some quarters to ring in that new word "consonant." It has a learned roll, but doesn't work in as readily as "camouflage." It does not fit in so many instances. New words that require undue consideration in their application are not so likely to become popular.

Since an attempt to revise the book regarded as sacred by any one religion seldom gets very far it is doubted if the proposition of Professor Dietzweiser to compile a new Bible from all of them would fill a long-felt want. The literatures of religions do not readily merge.

"Butter and eggs do to decline further," says a heading. No fault with this is likely to be found by the ultimate consumer, except as to the word "further." That would imply a previous descent that they have not become sufficiently aware of.

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS.

Laundry interests are to make a determined effort to obtain the family wash that binds millions of housewives to tubs on blue Monday. We are told by the president of their national association, indeed a very worthy ambition and one that rises out of the sordid murk of commercialism into the clear serenity of human service. But we would timidly suggest that the effort will require more than propaganda. Can the laundry people assume that, for the whole of the United States, the commercial laundry has nothing to offer but a business service? Can they profit by the word "service"? Doubtless that may do something, but is it enough?—Fresno Republican.

Leon Cremer, of San Francisco, was accidentally shot in his right leg Sunday forenoon by a companion while they were hunting near Patchin postoffice, in the Santa Cruz mountains. The limb had been so badly injured that it was necessary to amputate it.—Los Angeles Mail-News.

PAYING FOR THE TRUTH.

Great men do not always unbind themselves to the extent of writing in visitors' books, but sometimes they do, and one instance is on record when Rudyard Kipling wrote down his opinion of a hotel at which he had stayed. The incident in question occurred on one of his American and Canadian tours, and Mr. Kipling seems to have quarreled with his hotel keeper. Just before leaving one hotel, he wrote:

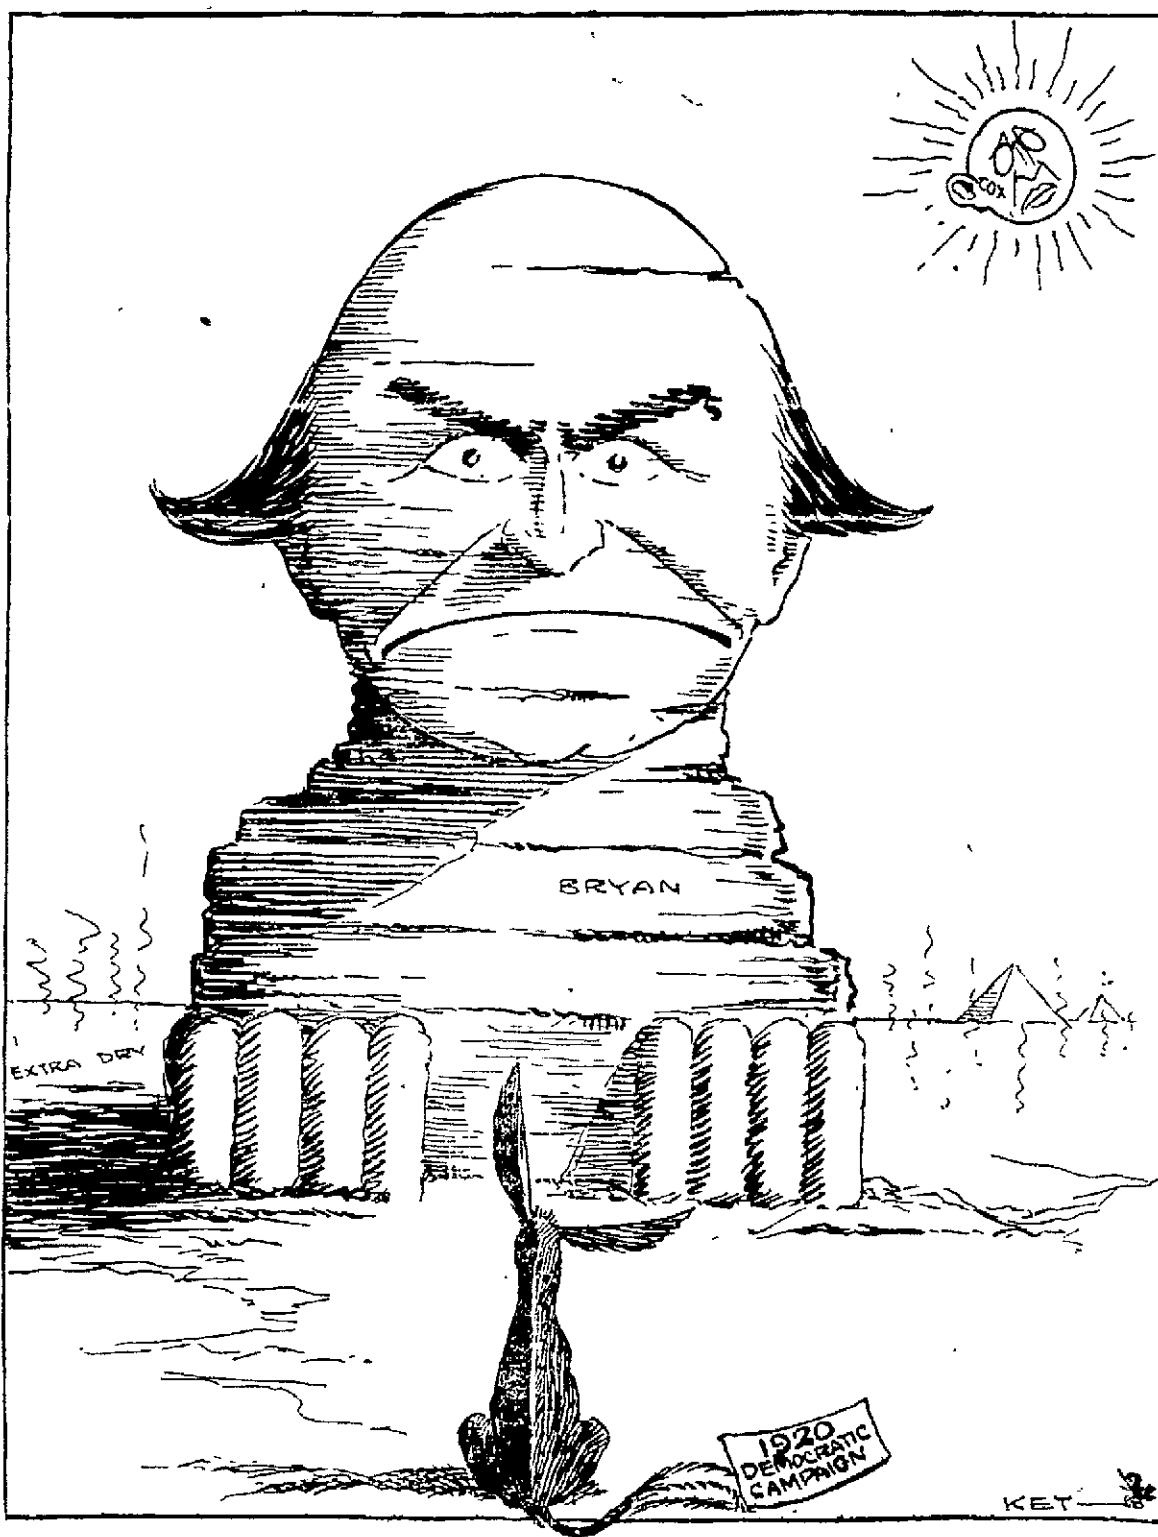

"I just want to say that of all the hotels under the shining sun, I have never been in one that for unmitigated silliness, unendurable discomfort, could equal yours."

A few minutes later the bill was presented. The final item ran: "To impudence, three dollars."—Answers, London.

"CONSORT NOT WITH KINGS"

A group of 2000 Bulgarian prisoners of war returned yesterday from Serbia. They were greeted at Kostonbrod station by H. M. the King, the Minister of Finance, the Minister of Education and others. After disinfection, the prisoners proceeded to their homes.—Echo de Bulgarie, Sofia.

The Real Sphinx Is a Chatterbox Compared to This One

The Advantages of Being an Ambassador

Immunity to America's laws obtains not only on the property of representatives of foreign governments, but follows the persons of those representatives wherever they go. An ambassador to the United States from another country, could walk out into the middle of Pennsylvania avenue, that historic mile of asphalt connecting (or separating, as you choose) the Capitol and the White House, draw a revolver and shoot me, in broad daylight, with thousands of war workers milling about after their noonday lunch, and not a policeman would dare interfere. Then calmly blow the smoke of the barrel of his pistol, replace it in his pocket, and proceed on his way without a finger being raised to detain him. And this is not a case of reductio ad absurdum. No Washington policeman would for an instant even think about trying to arrest the ambassador. He would politely ask the ambassador if he could make a statement. He would call an ambulance and have me removed, but he wouldn't even suggest that the diplomat accompany him to the station-house. He would report the incident to proper authority, and the District Commissioners would write a polite letter to the State Department, setting forth the facts, and the State Department would bring the facts to the attention of diplomatic channels. After all that, if the foreign government wanted to do anything about it, it would arrest the ambassador, take him home, and try him for murder in a local court. You see, constructively, the crime would have been committed on the territory of that foreign government, because wherever an ambassador happens to be standing, that spot is his country at that particular moment.

This immunity extends to the entire personnel of the Embassy or Legation—secretaries, attaches, counsels, valets, cooks, chauffeurs, and so on. An Alexandrian negro, dressed up in the livery of a foreign ambassador, discovered that when he put on the livery of his chief he also donned the immunity of his chief. He was a poor fellow, and he didn't know it. He ran past the stop signs. He cut corners, dodged around the left of the street, and indulged in every other petty law-breaking he could think of, just to make trouble for the Kaiser. He became as popular as a Kaiser. He made a million-dollar chase only to be laughed at when they finally overtook him. To appreciate his offense, you must go back in mind to the calm of pre-war Washington, with its twelve-mile-an-hour speed law, when nobody hurried to get anywhere, and automobile regulations were taken seriously by everybody concerned.

Each time the colored boy from Alexandria violated a law the police man who ran it would write a letter addressed to his captain and "having the honor to report" that at such and such an hour the chauffeur for the ambassador from such and such a country was seen doing so and so. The captain would forward it to the Commissioners, having their attention to the report of the policeman, and the Commissioners would write a letter to the Secretary of State, transmitting the letter of the captain, accompanied by the report of the policeman, and the Secretary of State would write a letter to the ambassador in question, calling his attention to the letter of the Commissioners, and all the things attached to it, and the ambassador would write back, replying that he had noted the report, so forth, and regretted the incident, and the Secretary of State would bundle it all up and write another letter back to the Commissioners, in-

WATSON TRAGEDY FOR MURDER OF ULLA CARLSON

PIEDMONT, Oct. 19.—The Piedmont police department today started its work on the investigation of the whereabouts of James P. "Bluebeard" Watson, self-confessed murderer of ten wives now serving a life sentence in San Quentin prison for the murder of Lina May Delaney, about the time of the murder of Ulla Carlson here last March.

Following the receipt yesterday of a letter from a woman living in a fashionable residence district in Chicago, who says she was a witness to the murder of the Carlson girl, in that time she has corresponded with that of the prisoner in San Quentin, Chief of Police B. F. Becker is devoting his attention to an investigation of Watson's activities last March.

Becker disclosed today that for the three months he has been working quietly on the theory that Watson murdered the Carlson girl, in that time he has corresponded with J. B. Armstrong, private detective of Los Angeles, who originally arrested "Bluebeard," and learned that during the early months of this year Watson was a frequent visitor to the Eastbay district.

"Our investigations have proved," Becker said today, "that Watson left Redondo Beach on March 9 after telling his Los Angeles wife that he was going into Mexico. The next heard of him was on March 22, when he telegraphed to his Los Angeles wife from the Oakland hotel where he had arrived in San Francisco that day by boat.

"Investigation disclosed the fact that he did not arrive in San Francisco by boat, but drove north in an automobile, and arrived in Sacramento the 15th or the 16th of March to visit his Sacramento wife. This would tend to show that Watson was either in Oakland or the immediate vicinity on the night of the murder, which was March 14.

"Our work now is to ascertain if possible his exact whereabouts on the night of the crime."

The description of Watson at the time of his arrest shows that he was wearing a diamond ring on his left hand. This is one of the details mentioned by the Chicago woman in her letter.

STATE SUPERINTENDENT ADVOCATES CONSOLIDATION OF RURAL SCHOOLS

Urges Teachers to Back Amendment 16 Insuring Funds for Improvement

Consolidation of the rural schools was urged by Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction, before the music section, California Teachers' Association, Bay section, in Oakland Technical High school this morning. The second morning of the three-day meeting of the large body of pedagogues was given over entirely to department programs taking place for the part in the Technical school.

"There are too many rural schools in California," Wood declared, "to conduct a greater waste than the waste in the populous valleys and thickly settled areas where rural schools are within a mile or a mile and a half of each other."

WOOD URGES AMENDMENT 16

Wood urged endorsement of the sixteenth amendment on the November ballot which, he said, "opens the door to raising some $5,000,000 or $6,000,000 for the elementary schools of the State. Following its passage, he pledged to insist that an appropriation to each county be made for its rural schools and the creating from it of a supervisors fund to be used partly in obtaining better music in the institutions."

"Camouflage composition" and the "literary cloudland in which there is striving for style and no substance," were jeered at by Howard D. Briggs, University of Utah, before the English section.

Sixty-eight per cent of the students in the Oakland public schools are under weight and 38 per cent of these are 7 per cent under weight, according to Miss Florence M. La Gasse, chairman of the home economics department, today. Miss La Gasse's statement followed an address by Mrs. John Collier, representative of the child health organization. The teachers of home science gave heed to what they termed "this alarming" situation.

PARADISE FOUND.

"Coming from New York to California, schools is like coming into Paradise," Mrs. Collier told the women. "The bay cities," the speaker said, "are fifty years ahead of the east in school hygiene."

Specially trained whole-time teachers in the adult night schools were urged by Miss Ethel Richardson, assistant state superintendent of education before the Americanization section.

"Men and women go through college without encountering citizenship instruction," Fred J. Anderson, Citizenship director, Oakland schools, declared in presenting the proposed program for this city. He pleaded that there should be no disparity between what the foreigner learned

Among the distinguished speakers before the annual meeting of the California Teachers' Association, bay section, assembling 3000 pedagogues in Oakland this week, are PROFESSOR HOWARD R. DRIGGS, University of Utah (left) and PROFESSOR W. C. BAGLEY, Teachers' College, Columbia University.

TEACHER'S HAND
MOULDS NATION'S FUTURE GREAT

Chamber of Commerce has been appointed by President Walter D. Colt to attend the sessions of bay teachers' institute this afternoon to listen to the discussions on the shortage of teachers.

The committee consists of Thomas M. Potter, W. J. Calder, John F. Johnston, Dr. S. R. Jacobs and J. L. Kettner.

The appointments were made at the request of H. B. Wilson, president of the teachers' association, and the selections were made with particular reference to informing business men of the school situation.

Wilson in asking the appointment of the committee made the request that it report back its conclusions to the Chamber of Commerce.

Sale of Stetson's Home Is Confirmed

The sale of a residence in the Sequoyia Hills tract, in East Oakland, owned by the late John W. Stetson, attorney and political leader, has been confirmed by Judge Lincoln S. Church, sitting for Judge E. C. Robinson in the Probate Court. The price obtained for the place was $200, besides $700 for the furniture in the house.

Stetson left all of his estate to his widow, Mrs. Alice Harlow Stetson, leaving her to make provision for a 16-year-old son. The estate has not yet been appraised.

Alameda Will Consider Plan to Handle Own Garbage

ALAMEDA, Oct. 19.—The trouble of the city fathers over Alameda's garbage and the possibility of the municipality handling its collection probably will be the main topic of interest before the city council when it meets tonight. At the last meeting of the body an ordinance was passed, over the protest of the Alameda Housewives' League, increasing the garbage collection rates ten cents all along the line.

So much protest over the increase was received from the women, however, that the council under took a discussion of the feasibility of the city handling the garbage.

City Manager Charles E. Hewes was instructed to investigate the situation, find out what other municipalities were doing regarding the problem, and report to the council at tonight's meeting.

TEACHERS' PAY RAISED TO TILT AGAIN IN '22

The presence of more than 300 teachers, the Board of Education last night formally ratified the granting of a salary increase of $100 per month for all regular teachers and fixing a maximum of $2400 for elementary teachers. The board also went on record as to the 1921-22, to bring the total to $2400.

A wordy discussion then developed the "twenty points" which must be met in order that the teachers' salary raise. These include various species of educational extras, dispensed with for the economy. Superintendent of schools said he might be able to save of the points, the present school without making it shorter.

SCHOOL FOR BLIND
Taking action on the twenty points is unbusinesslike right now, said Hunter, "for each one of them is a cause and possibly be the result of closing schools."

After discussion, however, the board took up the matter of blind and mute children's education. Irving C. Lewis, head of the department, educating the deaf, made a plea for her work.

The deaf school is established in the legislature, can this board "use it?" she asked.

Matter of this and the other "twenty points" was referred to the committee's council for final recommendation.

Remuneration of salary raises for teachers and custodians was discussed and finally postponed until a later date.

Communication of the commission of public health and safety, to West Oakland vice and was finally referred to President Gray for an answer, after Dr. Fred Campbell had suggested the matter be fully broached "so the public can know all about the commission's letter was and Gray promised to attend to the matter."

Residents of Crocker Highlands appealed to protest against a suggested site because it is on the wrong of Mandana boulevard and subject to constant danger from traffic. Matter was referred to the building department.

CELEBRATE MAYOR'S INVITATION
Invitation from Mayor Davis to the board send a delegation to Hotel Oakland tomorrow afternoon to consider a fitting memorial to the late Mayor.

Miss Ethel Moore, was accepted. Board members will draft a resolution on the subject of former board member.

Resolution to sell a tiny corner of the Claremont school property to the city for a playground, and land is said to do the school no while impeding the neighbor's eas to the street.

trial of Mrs. Clark Goes Over to Nov. 15
Trial of Mrs. Virginia P. Clark, stage bureau bride and confessed or of her husband, Chester Clark, was set for October 25, has postponed until November 15, to the illness of Mrs. Clark. Dr. Don Ball, neurologist, and Dr. E. Curtis, physician in charge of patients at the county jail, testified today that Mrs. Clark would not be able to go to trial because of illness brought upon her by certain imposed by the defense. District Attorney Ezra Deoto, who will prosecute the case, agreed to the postponement.

Stunts of "Baby Vamp" to Form One of Themes of College Piece

BERKELEY, Oct. 19.—The annual production of the Mask and Dagger Society of the University of California is to be staged at the Berkeley High school auditorium on Saturday night.

Miss Louise Myers, who in her freshman year played parts in the leading college productions, will interpret the role of a "baby vamp" whose actions plunge the remainder of the players into a mass of complications.

W. Rate Probe Before Commission
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—J. J. Cunniff, accountant for the Western Union Telegraph Company, in its general offices in New York, was the chief witness before today's session of the State Railroad Commission's investigation of the rates for telegraph service charges by the Western Union.

The investigation originally was planned in 1918, but action of the federal government at that time in taking control of the wires precluded further action until after return of the wires to private control.

Yesterday afternoon F. W. Lineau, traffic expert, and R. J. Meigs, valuation engineer, testified for the telegraph company.

Outlining the company's case Attorney Beverly Hodgehead declared that the rates for telegraph service are not unreasonable. He said that 86 per cent of the company's business is interstate and not within the state commission's jurisdiction. Since January, 1918, the attorney declared, 60 per cent of the company's revenue has gone for wages.

FIVE EASTBAY PAIRS WEDDED AT SAN JOSE

San Jose was the week-end Greens of Oakland and Eastbay couples. Five weddings, two of them surprise ones, took place between Saturday and Monday.

One of romantic interest was that of Fred H. Chenoweth Jr., of Alameda to Miss Lucretia Beck, daughter of Captain and Mrs. S. E. Beck of Alameda. The couple, desiring a quiet ceremony, surrounded by only a few friends, motored with relatives to San Jose and were married in Trinity church there. They were then well on their wedding journey, and continued on to Monterey and will go to Santa Barbara before returning to Chenoweth's home at 2554 Central avenue, Alameda. Chenoweth is with the Fageol Motors Company.

Thomas L. Roberts of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, stole a march on friends when he went to San Jose Monday and was there secretly married to Miss Gerna E. McCarty of that city. The couple have returned to make their home at 1114 Broadway.

Only two or three friends knew when Albert J. Davenport, who is a boilermaker, and Mrs. Hazelle F. Fletcher, of 1739 Market street, slipped away to San Jose Saturday and were married. They are now on a short wedding trip before returning here.

Henry W. Lamb and Miss Lillian E. Maden, both from Berkeley, were two others married in San Jose over the week-end, and John L. Roderick of Oakland went to Santa Clara after obtaining a marriage license in San Jose and was married to Miss Minnie Corrae.

DEATH MYSTERY CLEARED.
SEATTLE, Oct. 19.—Mystery surrounding the shooting of Wayne Baldwin while hunting in the woods near Allyn Saturday has been cleared and poses searching the countryside were called in today. This action was taken following an alleged confession by John Baker, Baldwin's hunting companion, who says that he shot the victim by mistake and then spread the story that some unknown person had fired the fatal buckshot.

Rice Men Threaten Valley Water Rights, Says Lawyer

If contentions of the up-river diversions are upheld in the courts, Sacramento will be without fresh water, and the question of water rights in the entire San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys will be put in issue, according to a declaration of John S. Partridge, attorney for Antioch in its suit for a temporary injunction against the rice growers, today.

"The whole question, when it is resolved to a final analysis," said Partridge, "is that should this case be decided against the rice growers, the rights to the water would be destroyed that rice might be grown? Are prior rights to be set aside to make it possible for people, away above Sacramento, to take water and use it on lands far away from the river, not for a reasonable, but for an unreasonable use?"

UPSTREAM WATERS
Partridge argued that the use of water upstream by causing the salt waters of the bay to flow up the river constituted a pollution of the rivers, and cited cases in which miners had polluted streams by use of hydraulics. In response to a question by Judge Stone if it would not be a successful use of water to permit 4000 seconds a day to flow into the bay diversions, Partridge should have said that the second for domestic uses, Partridge argued that the amount used was not important. Judge Stone also asked if the doctrine of appropriation was not based on a reasonable, economical and beneficial use of the water.

COMPARISONS CITED
"The amount used by Antioch in comparison to that used by the growers," said Partridge, "is not to be considered. I realize that the prosperity of California and of the nation is dependant upon the food supply; that in these two great valleys there is an empire capable of supporting one hundred cities, and I do not ask anything beyond reason. If it is the only question is that this amount shall not be made impossible. One could say, as well, that if the Eastbay cities used 20 cubic feet a second and somebody wished to use more, that they would have the right to deprive those cities of their supply."

"The test is not of the amount but of the rights." It is expected that the case will be concluded tomorrow or Thursday.

Young Women Will Hold Dance Tonight

Arrangements have been completed by Oakland Institute, No. 15, Young Ladies' Institute, for their dance and ball in Jenny Lind hall, Telegraph avenue and Twenty-third street tonight. The reception committee comprises: Miss Delphine Kenny, chairman; Misses Catherine A. Mullins, Madeline and Miriam Roberts, Catherine McHale, Louise McDougall, Anna and Gertrude Quinn, Teresa and Vera Grosse, Carrie Stovman, Marion Shon, Alice Zapold, Elinor White, Evelyn Raleigh and Gertrude Dooley.

Reduction in Freight Rates, Stephens' Idea

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 19.—Governor William D. Stephens, speaking here at the Southern California fair, said "it would be advisable for the administration to be looking after reduction of freight rates on products between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, rather than the breaking up of certain non-profit-making associations of growers and marketers in California."

Samuel M. Shorridge, candidate for United States Senator from California, delivered a non-partisan address.

Bishop Leonard to Address Chamber

BERKELEY, Oct. 19.—Bishop Adna Wright Leonard will be the speaker at the next luncheon of the Berkeley Chamber of Commerce, to be held at the Hotel Whitecloud on Tuesday, October 26. Bishop Leonard has chosen for his address the cryptic title of "Undercurrents," which will permit discussion of any of the great world problems now confronting the nations. His remarks will deal particularly with the outlook in our own country.

ABRAHAM JONAS HONORED IN LIFE BY CONGREGATION

Destroying the time-worn theory that a man's works only assume significance after he has been laid away to rest, members of the board of directors of the First Hebrew Congregation today announced the purchase of a bronze bas-relief of Abraham Jonas, well-known local worker.

The appreciation, made public today by George Samuels, reads as follows: "Directors of the First Hebrew Congregation, together with former members of the board, viewing the labor of our esteemed friend, Abraham Jonas, over the period of his lifetime in this community, have decided that some tangible evidence of gratitude shall be presented to him now."

"Wherefore, they have procured a bronze bas-relief of Mr. Jonas." The memorial, if it can be characterized as such, will be installed in the Temple Sinai, immediately following the services at the edifice next Friday evening.

RAIL INCREASE DENIED.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 19.—Railroads in Illinois today were denied a 40 per cent increase in freight rates by the State Public Utilities Commission.

50 SHOTS FAIL TO SCARE THIS FLOCK OF DUCKS

Floating somewhere in San Francisco bay is a flock of blue bill ducks that enjoy the distinction of having been shot at more times than any other ducks in California. On the opening day of the duck season at least 50 shots were fired at them, but they proved gun proof. They happen to be wooden decoys, lost by or stolen from Gus Besovitch of San Leandro, who has spent two days looking for them.

HIKER, 70, NOT MISSING, JUST ON A STROLL

Members of the family of C. A. Elliott, transcontinental hiker, have been relieved of anxiety caused by the disappearance of Elliott by a telephone message from him from Stockton. He said he was making a walking tour of the State and had neglected to notify relatives when he left. He read in the newspapers of the anxiety and telephoned. Elliott is 70 years old.
